We've been playing with the idea of releasing a pack with a bunch of choices, so we built a system where users could vote on a single car. Here are the seven options, plus the winner of this year's vote: The Ferrari 275 GTB The Ferrari F40 The Lamborghini Countach The Shelby Cobras are back in the mix A 1968 Shelby Cobra Daytona Coupe A V12-powered Ford Mustang GT500 A 1965 Ferrari 330 TR In just a few short weeks, we'll reveal which car will be given the honour of being the 70th Anniversary Celebration Pack. We'll announce the winner right here on our forums, so keep your eyes open for the announcement! You may be asking, what makes the pack special? These cars have been chosen for their status as the oldest and most iconic of their breed, but they also have special significance to the racing world. The Lamborghini Countach represents the first of the iconic era of racing cars. The 275 GTB is the most iconic of Ferrari's V12 offerings. The F40 is a defining car for the current generation of F1 drivers, the Shelby Cobras represent the soul of American muscle cars, and the 330 TR is one of the most thrilling GTs ever produced. We are excited to share this experience with our community, and we hope the cars chosen will inspire your imagination as much as they have ours. Interested in the other cars? Click here to see a video of the three that didn't make the pack. — The Team Recommended Posts Share this post Link to post Share on other sites Ever since I saw the GTB on the strip in '76, this thing has been a favorite of mine. The first thing I thought of was the GTO! I even think this thing is a little cooler than the GTO. I know its a small car but I like the curves and the proportions. I just can't get past the hood in the GTO. Many types of manufacturing equipment are designed to run on a conveyor system through which products move sequentially. Examples of such equipment are injection molding machines, packaging machinery, web rollers, etc. Such equipment is commonly used in the pharmaceutical and chemical industries, as well as in manufacturing processes for other types of products.
